Daggerfall realizes a game world the size of the United Kingdom, filled with 15,000 cities with a population of 750,000 people. It was influenced by analog games and . everything. The game is based on the Quake III Arena engine. It implements the ability to play over the Internet or local network. It has a number of features that are not in other games: the ability to create your own maps, the ability to play in multiplayer with other people, the ability to play for monsters and so on. The game was released on June 12, 1996. Its official website began to work on March 1, 2007.
