Good news: After many (mostly successful) attempts, we were able to get all of the issues with lack of sound fixed. We have been working on getting this fixed for over a year now. So after a long time, the game now has music! There will be a few more updates this year on the game, but we are currently focusing on getting updates out for Clash Force! Don't be surprised if you are suddenly getting more gameplay updates, new game modes, etc. This is coming! You'll find the music on the soundtrack page. If you are encountering a crash (likely due to FTL) that does not occur when you play Clash Force on Android, please post here and I will look into it. I've been doing this long enough now that I've had similar experiences with a few of my games. And they usually go like
