

Light a monster on fire, eat it, and make them want to leave the darkness behind in the surprising Japanese adventure game Zenith. In this RPG/platformer you play as 13-year old Yummi, a tiny being with big problems. You’ve been kidnapped and dropped off in a moonlit forest. Every time you light a torch, a monster of some sort will come out of the shadows and eat you. However, Yummi is a bigger problem for the monsters and animals in this world. They want to destroy the moon. Join Yummi as he changes into a giant monster and battles enemies as you search for the people who kidnapped him. You'll earn new abilities as you learn to transform into different creatures. You'll dive into the forest, eat monsters, uncover a dark plot, and save the moon... somewhere between that and a slice of (customisable) cake. Features: Play as a giant beast as you battle monsters RPG elements, turn-based combat, a skill tree, story, dialogue, and puzzles Easy to play, hard to master gameplay Unlock powerful superpowers as you play through the game Play as a thirteen-year old boy who becomes a giant monster Thousands of enemies to fight, and a range of bigger and smaller bosses Upgrade your eye, horn, and hair colours to look more monstrous and badass Discover the mysteries behind the Moon Festival, and find out why the moon is so important Local and online multiplayer gameplay Roughly one to three hours of fun gameplay Amusing story line with an awesome soundtrack Unlock achievements and trophies as you progress For the best performance, high-end PC and mobile phones Basic rule – a password is required to play, but we advise that you share it with your friends! It's as easy as that. In Merchant's Game you're a good businessman that has to save the Galaxy from bankruptcy and make money with it. And you've got many ways to make money, but they all will cost you some money. The lanlord is not happy. So don't think you can do whatever you want. Let's start. You'll start with a shop in the middle of a galaxy where your task is to make money. Let me tell you some more information about Merchant's Game. It's a pixelart game and is played by keyboard and mouse. The game will feature: + A shop building with the shape of an island. + Implemented the lanlord's demand. + RPG feature (You can level up with items) + Many hours of gameplay. + Lots of events, i.e. new customers on demand, a bus lost with the shop items, etc. + A dynamic ambient music. + Good soundtrack. A screenshot of the game: A video: *Some clarification about the game. Well, the game features many possibilities, but you need to contact the lanlord if you wanna get a shop. I developed the game without the need of an actual store, so I won't force you to have it. However I will offer a special price in connection to a sold game to the new writers. Currently I'm selling the game at $1 for a copy of the game and the game design. If you want to see a free video preview you can find it in the first post of this thread. The current version of the game is v1.0. In this version there's a starting shop, an atmosphere (a bus with some items) and a languaster that can be placed in his own room. After I finished this version I'm working on a fully textured version. The items at the beginning of the game are not "mined". They are "stolen" from a bus that is lost with these items. The biggest problem that I encountered in my work on the game was the skills. Since I wanted to make a game for a very wide audience, i.e. I didn't want to make a game that is only for pixelart purist, I had the task to make the game accessible to anyone and everyone. That's why I created a different system for the gamers: c9d1549cdd
