I have a vague idea of what the full sentence is supposed to mean, but I'm not quite sure how to read it, and my understanding of the grammar is limited. The text is from Hollywood Homicide - Also thanks to the help of another person in the precinct, you may have noticed the records that were found in Vicky Scott's locker. We believe the suspect killed her and then dropped her body into the train yard. Thanks to the assistance of a junkie in the neighborhood, we're able to match up a footprint found at the scene to a pair of Adidas trainers owned by the suspect. Which may help us to find out who he is. All of this leads us to believe that this is going to be a hot case. It's the first part of a quote from a TV show. Could you please explain the grammatical function of the commas (and the word "another"?) and what the period (?) is doing? A: The first sentence Also thanks to the help of another person in the precinct, you may have noticed the records that were found in Vicky Scott's locker. We believe the suspect killed her and then dropped her body into the train yard.
