CLEVELAND, Ohio -- The Cavaliers are known for their dedication to their fans, so a Cavaliers-themed work party is scheduled for Monday to thank the fans who cheered LeBron James' team to a playoff berth. The event is being planned for Monday in Cleveland and will have an after-party at the Squire's Tavern in Solon. "I want to thank the fans from the bottom of my heart for the great season they have had," James said in a statement. "We haven't accomplished anything yet, but we've done some good things and it's an honor to do that at home. "We've got to keep the energy up, but we want to try to stay happy and enjoy this as much as we can." The party is being planned for 1 to 4 p.m. Monday at The Garage at Westgate. A similar Cavaliers event at The Garage was held in July to honor the team's first-round playoff loss to the Boston Celtics. It was planned to help repair the damage from that loss and to also help the team celebrate its NBA title a few months later. The Cavs are trying to avoid a similar collapse as they enter the postseason. The team was eliminated from the playoffs in six games last year, and James' decision to return for his 13th season in Cleveland -- a full four years after leaving the team for the Miami Heat -- was the primary reason for the failure. The Cavs went 24-58 this season, their worst record since 1998-99, and finished with the second-worst record in the league. James and Kyrie Irving were also named to the All-NBA team for the second straight season. The Cavaliers' playoff odds are just 11.3 percent, according to ESPN's Basketball Power Index. The Lakers, who finished the regular season with the top odds, have the best odds at 55.5 percent. The Cavaliers also have

What's New in the MeSince?

What's New in This Release: Version 1.6.5.3 (21/11/2015) - New iOS icon - Changed UI of server configuration view * Disclaimer: This app is in no way affiliated with or endorsed by Apple. It is a third party application and subject to the permission of its developer. We do not offer any support and do not provide any help with this application. This is really cool app! I love the fact that it does the encryption on my behalf. It has certainly saved me a lot of hassle when sending someone a message on my Blackberry. It also does the digest and encryption. But my main problem is the fact that it does not work on the BB at all. I was wondering if that is going to change or if I should stick with using the SMS app or something else?

Thank you! What's new Version 1.6.5.3

installed MeSince but I don't see any email coming through (I know there is since I sent one, which was encrypted). I have no idea what I'm doing wrong. Also, I'm using 5.0 beta.1 and I get the message from the store, but no email actually comes through when I hit Send. I installed MeSince but I don't see

Also, I'm using 5.0 beta.1 and I get the message from the store, but no email actually comes through when I hit Send. This is a great idea, and great concept. However, it doesn't encrypt the incoming emails. For example, I would like to receive all of my incoming mail encrypted (encrypted@email.com) but have to manually encrypt the messages. Another thing I would like to note is that if you want to send an encrypted email, you have to pay for a server. If you don't want to pay for the server, then you can't encrypt the messages. I have a few questions about this app: - Does it work for all email services
