With no major retail holidays slated for March and April, mattress manufacturers are attempting to lure shoppers with a new batch of spring-oriented mattress sales. We're currently seeing discounts on everything from the best mattress we've reviewed to our favorite weighted blankets. If you're in the market for a new bed or duvet, there are some great mattress deals you can get right now. For instance, mattress manufacturer Nectar is taking 33% off everything as part of its flash sale (opens in new tab). After discount, you can get the Editor's Choice Nectar mattress on sale for $699 (opens in new tab) (queen, was $1,049). That's one of the best prices we've seen for what we call the best value mattress on the market. If you want the best mattress we've reviewed, Saatva is taking up to $500 off orders of $1,000 or more (opens in new tab). Saatva makes our overall best mattress and after discount you can get the Saatva Classic for $1,495 (queen) (opens in new tab). That's $200 cheaper than it was just a few days ago. There are plenty of other mattress sales to browse today. From sitewide discounts to huge mattress coupons, here are the best mattress sales of the week. (Also, make sure to check out our guide to the best mattress toppers). Saatva Classic Mattress: was $1,355 now $855 @ Saatva (opens in new tab)

The Saatva Classic is the best luxury hybrid mattress you can buy. This high-end innerspring mattress combines eco-friendly foams and a cushioning Euro pillow top with a super-durable dual steel coil support system. In our Saatva Classic mattress review, we found it's fantastic to sleep on, offering hotel-level comfort at a reasonable price. The Saatva Classic comes in three different comfort levels (soft, medium firm, or firm) and two heights (11.5 or 14.5 inches). Plus, it includes free white glove delivery as standard. After discount, you can get the twin XL for $855 (was $1,355) or the queen for $1,495 (was $1,995). Helix Midnight Mattress: was $936 now $749 @ Helix (opens in new tab)

Save 20% + free pillows: As part of its current sale, Helix is taking 20% off sitewide via coupon "SPRINGSALE20". Even better, all deals come with two free pillows. After discount, you can get the Midnight (twin) for $749 (was $936) or the queen for $1,099 (was $1,374). In our Helix Midnight

Mattress review, we said the hybrid mattress delivers the comfort and support you'd expect of a pricier model. It's also an excellent choice for side sleepers, with memory foam that relieves pressure by cradling pressure points along your body. Meanwhile, the mattress' coils offer a little bounce, limit motion transfer, and boost airflow to keep you cool as you sleep.

Awara Natural Hybrid: was $1,398 now $799 @ Awara (opens in new tab)

Save up to $699: The Awara is regularly on sale and this month the maximum savings is up to $699. In our Awara Natural Hybrid Mattress review, we called the Editor's Choice bed an affordable organic mattress with a luxurious feel. We also found it was great at alleviating joint pressure and keeping your spine properly aligned while you sleep. After discount, you can get twin for $799 (was $1,398) or the queen for $1,099 (was $1,898). Nolah Evolution 15: was $1,599 now $949 @ Nolah (opens in new tab)

The Nolah Evolution 15 is a hybrid memory foam bed that suits anyone seeking high levels of pressure relief and cooling. Graphite-infused AirFoamIce and a cool-touch cover handle the cooling, while pressure relief comes courtesy of foam and an 8-inch coil system. In our Nolah Evolution 15 mattress review, we said its particularly good at isolating motion, which makes it a great choice for couples. Use coupon "TGNOLAH50" to take an extra $50 off mattress and weighted blanket sale prices. After discount, the twin costs $949 (was $1,599), whereas the queen costs $1,549 (was $2,299). During checkout, you'll need to remove the discount that's automatically added and instead add "TGNOLAH50" as your discount. You'll then get up to $700 off plus an extra $50 off. Purple Plus Mattress: was $1,499 now $1,299 @ Purple (opens in new tab)

$200 off! The Purple Plus Mattress is Purple's newest mattress. It offers two extra inches of premium foam (versus its predecessor) for better cushioning, responsiveness, and breathability. In our Purple Plus mattress review, we found it was a more luxurious version of the original mattress with better lumbar support. After discount, the twin costs $1,299 (was $1,499), whereas the queen costs $1,699 (was $1,899). Brooklyn Bedding Dreamfoam Essential Mattress: was $449 now $314 @ Brooklyn Bedding (opens in new tab)

The Dreamfoam Essential holds a spot in our best budget mattress guide for being one of the best inexpensive cooling beds you'll find. While the mattress is available in five different heights, we'd recommend looking at the 10-inch model or taller for better sleep comfort and support. Use coupon "WINTER25" to save 25%. After discount, the 10-inch twin costs $336 (was $449), whereas the 10-inch queen costs $524 (was $699). Nolah Original 10" Mattress: was $699 now $499 at Nolah (opens in new tab)

Two free pillows! The Nolah Original 10" is the company's most affordable option, but don't let its budget price fool you. It offers long-term durability, pressure relief and optimal cooling. Use coupon "TGNOLAH50" to take an extra $50 off sale prices. After discount, the twin costs $499 (was $699), whereas the queen costs $849 (was $1,149). During checkout, you'll need to remove the discount that's automatically added and instead add "TGNOLAH50" as your discount. You'll then get this lower price. GhostBed Luxe: was $2,395 now $1,557 @ GhostBed (opens in new tab)

Get 2 free pillows: Ghostbed calls the Luxe the "coolest bed in the world" and this 13-inch tall luxury foam mattress is packed with cooling tech, including a cool-to-the-touch quilted cover, gel memory foam, and a layer of thermo-sensitive foam. Additional support layers also adapt to your body to relieve pressure and boost comfort. It's a great option for anyone who overheats at night. After discount, the twin costs $1,557 (was $2,395), whereas the queen costs $1,953 (was $3,005). Plus, you'll get two free pillows with any mattress sale purchase. Tempur-Cloud Mattress: was $1,699 now $1,189 @ Tempur-Pedic (opens in new tab)

The Tempur-Cloud Mattress adapts to your weight, shape, and temperature for personalized comfort and support. Rarely on sale, all mattress sizes are now 30% off. After discount, the twin is $1,189 (was $1,699), whereas the queen is $1,399 (was $1,999). Purple Mattress: was $799 now $599 @ Purple (opens in new tab)

The Purple Mattress is the company's least expensive mattress, yet it still comes with the company's patented Purple Grid mattress tech. Under this 2-inch grid are two layers of high-density comfort foam. In our Purple mattress review, we found it was better at relieving pressure and more comfortable than typical foam mattresses or airbeds. It's dynamic grid also delivers a supportive sleeping experience with the sensation of floating on air. After discount, you can get the twin for $599 (was $799) or the queen for $1,199 (was $1,399).
