The Ørgreen trademark is our prescription eyewear and sunglasses, made in titanium and beta-titanium: precious metals in a superb quality designed to last. Our collections are designed and developed in Denmark and made by hand in Japan, known and respected for high standards and irrefutable quality. Individually crafted with more than 100 processes, each frame can take up to six months to achieve its penchant for perfection. The Ørgreen trademark is their prescription glasses and sunglasses, made with precious metals in a level of quality designed to last. The designs from Denmark are sent to Japan to complete over 100 separate processes over the course of six months. They incorporate traditional Japanese craftsmanship with contemporary Danish design. The precision and detail that goes into each pair of Ørgreen frames shows the astounding craftsmanship that goes into the manufacturing process. After all this hard work, a pair of Ørgreen glasses are finally ready to wear! Offering both glasses and sunglasses, Ørgreen keep their style very minimal and classic in true Danish fashion. Ørgreen are challenging tradition by bringing in modern materials, new colour palettes and versatility into their frames, while maintaining the minimal look they are so well known for. Cateye glasses can be worn by almost any face shape. Only round face shapes should avoid the cateye style. The shape of these Orgreen Jerrad 223 makes the facial features softer and more feminine. Cateye glasses from Orgreen bring back the style of the 60s. The Cateye, or Butterfly style, adds the finishing touch to your style. These full rim Orgreen glasses are a fashionable accessory. Like all full-rim glasses, they protect the lenses optimally because they are fully enclosed. The full rim gives you plenty of scope for different designs and colour variations. These options also make Orgreen full rim glasses much more eye-catching. Orgreen full rim glasses are not only a visual aid, but also a fashion accessory.

In that classroom, we sat at desks arranged in an oval. The teacher wore light-colored shirts with a department-store tie that covered his buttons. He had glasses and a great deal of nervous energy, and he wanted to motivate us to affect our worlds. Aside from a few personal anecdotes, I remember nothing of what he said.
