

How to Download Facebook APK for Android 4.1.2

If you want to use Facebook on your Android device running version 4.1.2, you might have trouble finding the app on the Google Play Store. That's because the latest version of Facebook requires Android 9 or higher<sup>[2]</sup>. However, you can still download older versions of Facebook APK from other sources, such as APKMirror<sup>[1]</sup> or Uptodown<sup>[2]</sup>. Here's how to do it:

1. Go to a website that offers Facebook APKs for Android 4.1.2, such as APKMirror or Uptodown.
2. Find the version of Facebook that matches your device's specifications, such as CPU architecture, screen density and API level.
3. Download the APK file to your device.
4. Enable the option to install apps from unknown sources in your device's settings.
5. Open the APK file and follow the instructions to install Facebook on your device.

That's it! You can now enjoy Facebook on your Android 4.1.2 device. However, keep in mind that using an outdated version of Facebook might expose you to security risks and compatibility issues. Therefore, it is recommended that you update your device's operating system or get a newer device if possible.
