

The Problem With Jon Stewart - Season 1 ((EXCLUSIVE))

The Problem with Jon Stewart is an American late night current affairs television series hosted by Jon Stewart on Apple TV+. Each episode focuses on a single issue. The series premiered on September 30, 2021. The second season premiered on October 7, 2022. Waste items can include everything from old food and uniforms to ammunition, nuclear waste and human feces; burning them with jet fuel produces clouds of smoke, which soldiers breathe for extended periods. And when health problems surface, sometimes years after they have left service, the soldiers can't prove to the government that their cancer or lung ailments resulted from the burn pits.

"The [Veterans Administration's] motto is, delay, deny, hope you die," one veteran says in a clip played on the show. It seems, however, that the more focused approach in this new show is not landing Stewart the golden ratings he received at The Daily Show. According to The Wrap, The Problem with Jon Stewart suffered a massive drop-off in viewership during season 1. Despite premiering as the number 1 unscripted program on Apple TV+ with 180,000 homes tuning in, by its fifth episode it had dropped by 78% to only 40,000. It was a busy night at the Marvel Television and Netflix panel held Friday evening at San Diego Comic-Con, with a new trailer for The Defenders debuting, The Punisher making a surprise appearance at the event, and an announcement made that Iron Fist will indeed get a second season. Step onto the field and go behind the scenes with the iconic soccer team for a look at their astonishing 2021-2022 season. Fueled by their fervent fans, they defy the odds and silence the skeptics. Watch here In this true-life twist on a holiday fable, Jeremy Morris brings a whole new meaning to Christmas spirit when his extravagant seasonal display sparks a dispute with his neighbors that lands them all in court. Watch here Apple has announced the premiere date for season two of the Emmy-nominated Apple TV+ original series "The Problem With Jon Stewart." The second season will premiere globally with six all-new weekly episodes starting on Friday, October 7. Acclaimed host, writer, producer, director and advocate Jon Stewart, recipient of the 2022 Mark Twain Prize for American Humor, leads with compassion and humor as he takes a deep dive into some of the most important issues of our time. Using comedy and common sense, the series will feature tough, topical and culture-moving conversations from the perspectives of stakeholders, experts and individuals confronting these issues. The series' official companion podcast of the same name is available on Apple Podcasts and via RSS, and was recently named Best Interview Podcast by Adweek's Podcast of the Year Awards. The WGA-nominated series "The Problem With Jon Stewart" is hosted and executive produced by Stewart through his Busboy Productions. The series is executive produced by showrunner Brinda Adhikari, alongside Stewart's longtime manager James Dixon, Chris McShane, and Richard Plepler through his Eden Productions, which has an exclusive overall production deal with Apple. Lorrie Baranek and Reza Riazi are supervising producers and Kris Acimovic is head writer. Apple TV+ announces new episodes of "The Problem With Jon Stewart," premiering globally on Friday, March 3 Season two continues with all-new episodes, available weekly, tackling crime, defense policy, inflation, the backsliding of democracy and more, as well as the series' first-ever overseas interview with foreign policy leaders Apple today announced new episodes of the Emmy Award and Writers Guild Award-nominated Apple TV+ original series "The Problem With Jon Stewart." Returning Friday, March 3 and airing weekly, the second season continues with six all-new episodes on topics including crime, defense policy, inflation, the backsliding of democracy and more. Upcoming interviews include Stewart sitting down with General David Petraeus to discuss defense; State Senator Natham Dahm (R-OK) about crimes and guns; Governor Gavin Newsom (D-CA) about prison reform and rehabilitation, and for the first time ever the series will travel abroad for Stewart to speak with foreign policy leaders. Acclaimed host, writer, producer, director and advocate Jon Stewart, recipient of the 2022 Mark Twain Prize for American Humor, leads with compassion and humor as he takes a deep dive into some of the most important issues of our time. Using comedy and common sense, the series features tough, topical and culture-moving conversations from the perspectives of stakeholders, experts and individuals confronting these issues. Previous episodes, covering gender, taxes, Afghanistan, midterm elections and more, are currently streaming on Apple TV+. "The Problem With Jon Stewart" is hosted and executive produced by Stewart through his Busboy Productions. The series is executive produced by showrunner Brinda Adhikari, alongside Stewart's longtime manager James Dixon, Chris McShane, and Richard Plepler through his Eden Productions, which has an exclusive overall production deal with Apple. Lorrie Baranek and Reza Riazi are supervising producers, and Kris Acimovic is head writer. The series' acclaimed podcast of the same name is available on Apple Podcasts and via RSS. The podcast was recently nominated for an Ambie Award in the Best Interview Podcast category. Last year, it was named Best Interview Podcast by Adweek's Podcast of the Year Awards and received People's Choice Podcast Award nominations for Best Male Host and Best Politics & News Podcast. Apple TV+ offers premium, compelling drama and comedy series, feature films, groundbreaking documentaries, and kids and family entertainment, and is available to watch across all your favorite screens. After its launch on November 1, 2019, Apple TV+ became the first all-original streaming service to launch around the world, and has premiered more original hits and received more award recognitions faster than any other streaming service in its debut. To date, Apple Original films, documentaries and series have been honored with 329 wins and 1,398 award nominations and counting, including multi-E Emmy Award-winning comedy "Ted Lasso" and Oscar Best Picture winner "CODA." About Apple TV+ Apple TV+ is available on the Apple TV app in over 100 countries and regions, on over 1 billion screens, including iPhone, iPad, Apple TV, Mac, popular smart TVs from Samsung, LG, Sony, VIZIO, TCL and others, Roku and Amazon Fire TV devices, Chromecast with Google TV, PlayStation and Xbox gaming consoles, and at tv.apple.com, for $6.99 per month with a seven-day free trial. For a limited time, customers who purchase and activate a new iPhone, iPad, Apple TV, Mac or iPod touch can enjoy three months of Apple TV+ for free.* For more information, visit apple.com/tvpr and see the full list of supported devices. The commentary-styled show started in 2021 with its first season and is hosted by The Daily Show veteran Jon Stewart, who is not just a highly acclaimed comedian but is also a noted political commentator, satirist, actor, director and television host. In the interview, Breed discussed how her upbringing colored her approach to criminal justice, her problem with San Francisco's stated progressives and where she thinks the city is handcuffed in its ability to deal with the intertwined crises of mental health and homelessness.

The Problem With Jon Stewart - Season 1

21f597057a