The resulting magic item can spawn with 1 or 2 affixes (mods). I myself do not use these orbs a lot on my items, because I wear either unique or rare items but they are useful in another way. They are great to use on white strongboxes, white flasks which drop (instead of using a lot of Orbs of Alteration which is more expensive than that) and I also like to use them on good base items with high itemLevel. You can get lucky that way and roll high value mod on item, it is worth noting, magic item with one highly rolled mod can be sold times and times more than rare item with 6 mediocre mods in this game. Usually Orbs of Transmutation stack up for me so I sometimes like to trade them to Scrolls of Wisdom which I spend fast. 1 Orb of Transmutation yields you 4x Scrolls of Wisdom when sold to vendor. You can also obtain orbs of Transmutation as drops, selling unidentified magic or rare items to vendor, or buy it for 7x Portal Scrolls from vendor. Ratio to Chaos Orb is approximately 35-40 Transmutations : 1 Chaos Orb. Orbs of Augmentation are used to add one affix (mod) to magic item which has only 1 affix. Magic items can spawn with 1 or 2 mods and Orb of Augmentation can be only used on those which have 1 mod. I myself use those orbs mostly on strongboxes when they have just 1 mod or on flasks. You can transform them to Orb of Alteration by selling 4x Orbs of Augmentation to vendor. You can also obtain them as drops and selling rare items with 6 affixes to vendor (yields 1 Orb of Augmentation for item). Ratio to Chaos Orb is 60 Orbs of Augmentation : 1 Chaos Orb. Chromatic Orbs are used to recolor sockets on the item. All the sockets of the item are recolored randomly, so sometimes it might take a while until you get colors you want. It is worth noting, that base item also plays role in coloring the sockets. Items with armor will roll red sockets more commonly, items with evasion will roll green sockets more commonly and items with energy shield will roll blue sockets more commonly. Blue and green sockets on armor based item, red and blue sockets on evasion based item, green and red sockets on energy shield based item are called off colors. The more off colors you want on the item, the harder it will be to achieve. The most popular way to obtain Chromatic Orbs is by selling items with one green, one blue and one red socket linked together. So it requires a minimum 3link item with a socket of each color. Worth noting that you can also sell 4link items where blue, red and green sockets are linked together. Red and green sockets are linked together. Other ways to obtain Chromatic orbs are through drops and buying them at vendor (which I do not recommend, as it is very expensive). Ratio to Chaos orb is approximately 13-20 Chromatic orbs : 1 Chaos Orb.
